Historical Significance

The A.L.S.R. "49° Capricorno" holds a distinguished place in modern Italian military history. It was developed in collaboration with A-129 Mangusta helicopter pilots and became the standard-issue survival knife for crews of the 49th Air Cavalry Squadron "Capricorno". Its field performance in numerous international operations has established it as a benchmark for tactical utility and reliability among NATO-aligned forces.

Glossary

- N690Co Steel: High-end cobalt-alloy stainless steel offering superior corrosion resistance and edge retention.
- Black Idroglider®: Non-reflective PTFE-based coating providing friction reduction and durability.
- FRN® Handle: Fiberglass-reinforced nylon offering strength, light weight, and resistance to impact and chemicals.
- Liner Lock: A reliable blade-locking system ensuring stability during heavy-duty use.
