Description

Atrax, compact folder EDC, design by Denis Simonutti. The design of the Italian designer combines an unbeatable value for money and functionality.

Blade - 3 mm thick with profile Wharncliffe, provides excellent cutting edge geometry with low resistance. The blade is made of sharp stainless steel 8Cr13MoV (equivalent to Japanese AUS-8 steel). The plain blade of the type has been Plain made with a Flat Grind, which ensures excellent cutting properties and weight reduction. coating that eliminates glare Black Stonewash. The notches in the blade allow the blade to be opened with cold or wet hands as well as in a glove. Additionally, the knife can be opened with a flipper. Both methods are suitable for use with both the right and the left hand. Notched support: ramp thumb (jimping spine) and finger Choil jimping, undercut the index finger on the pin.

8Cr13MoV - Easy to sharpen, stainless knife steel, equivalent to Japanese AUS-8 steel. A high content of 13.0% chromium and an average of 0.8% carbon ensure excellent corrosion resistance. The presence of 1.0% silicon, 0.3% molybdenum increase the strength of the steel and wear resistance. 8Cr13MoV is characterized by high hardness in the range of 57-62 HRC.

Handle - profiled, made of anodized green aluminum. The linings are attached to a solid spacer (so-called backspacer / handle lining connector) made of G10 material, which ensures the strength of the structure. A solid, two-sided cutout in the handle guarantees intuitive right / left hand access to the hole and to release the blade lock. The metal clip (right-hand side) allows you to carry the knife in the tip-up position (tip up). In the rear part of the grip there is a hole (lanyard hole) for pulling a lanyard or a safety rope.
