Description

Based on Skeksis, a fictional being as a mixture of bird of prey, reptile and dragon, Magnum presents an eccentric pocket knife with good performance in person. The ball-bearing and beak-like blade takes up the Skeksis in form and efficiency, so that even difficult cutting jobs can be mastered with ease. The folder opens with either a flipper or a thumb hole, while the stainless steel liner lock and the jimpings on the back of the blade ensure uncompromising work safety. The textured green G10 scales resemble reptile skin and ensure a comfortable grip. The optical highlight is the brass ring that flanks the blade axle screw. With lanyard hole and tip-up clip (r).
