Description

Universal high-volume casual backpack that has bigger volume as an option, thanks to the zipper on the back, which is used to increase the volume of the backpack when opened. The shoulder straps can optionally be hidden in a separate compartment, after which the backpack can be used as a shoulder bag. The backpack consists of three spacious compartments with inside pockets for personal belongings. In addition, the backpack is equipped with an external MOLLE system for attaching future tactical pockets. The shoulder straps can be fastened in two positions - in the standard position at the waist and in the second position on the side of the backpack, which allows you to better shift the center of gravity of the backpack to the hips, which makes it easier to carry heavy equipment.
