Description

Denali offers what you expect from a tent for universal use: high quality materials which can cope with a long-time application under adverse weather condition. Good technical solutions for a good life in the open air, like for example the self-supporting, geodetical construction, the different door-opening possibilities and the stow-pockets for the door fabrics. The apsis as store-room, the generous meshed surfaces for optimal ventilation and the repair set round off the good equipment.
